

What do our visitor say?

The only beauty trade show in the Philippines certainly lived up to its expectations. The quality and number of the suppliers are excellent and there is plenty of international brands around which will definitely provide a strong competition with the local beauty products in the Philippines.

I am Doc Gab of Gab Pigmentation, the show is very good, I have seen suppliers which I've been looking for, all the products I need and can be used for my clinics such as pigments, needles and new technology machines. To all in the beauty business, better not miss this event next year, as for me philbeauty helped me find the new products and partners for my clinics. Thanks to the organizers. The event offers semi-permanent makeup, 6D microblading, Korean BB Glow and many more. This is my first time to visit philbeauty, I have heard this event to colleagues and friends last year, but I wasn't able to attend but now that I have the chance to attend I'm very glad that I visited this show.

We are a trading and import company based in the Philippines focusing on colorants and essential oils. We've been visiting philbeauty since 2014 to source raw materials for our products and to search for some potential distributors and partners for our business expansion. I can say that the philbeauty show is growing through the years and we also learn from the product demos and seminars. We hope to see more companies and more activities next year.

This is actually my third time to visit philbeauty and compared to last year the variety of products is broader and small machineries which I find very interesting and I think this would be the next trends. There are many interesting products here, great array of products that definitely we will be following up after this show. For next year I hope it will be bigger and more products. Surely, I will definitely be back for next philbeauty show
